Flights

For flights, please contact your domestic travel agent early. You can also find reasonably priced tickets on the Internet. Now, the number of flights landing to Myanmar is very limited. Please check details ahead of your trip.

Myanmar time is 6:30 hours ahead of Greenwich Mean Time (GMT).

Hotels

Hotel prices have gone up and many hotels might be fully booked long in advance. The same applies to domestic flights. Please contact your travel agent early!

Money

There are two currencies for you in Myanmar: the US Dollar (cash) and the local currency called Kyat (pronounced chutt). Traveler cheques and credit cards like Visa, Master and Union Pay are now accepted in leading hotels and tour operators. Payment with credit card will be charged 4% surplus. The Euro is gaining acceptance, but only in the tourist centers; please ask your travel agent, if he will accept Euro. So bring enough US Dollar cash, in new and undamaged $100 bills. Bring some smaller dollar bills for change.

The exchange rates for smaller bills are lower than for the Dollar 100 bill or the Euro 500 bill.

You need Kyat, if you eat at local restaurants or shop in the markets for souvenirs and handicraft.

Insurance

We strongly recommend travel insurance (German: Reiseversicherung und Reiseruecktrittsversicherung) from your country in order to be insured against illness, accident, repatriation, travel cancellation, and lost baggage.

Customs Regulations

Myanmar Customs is polite and cooperative. All visitors must fill out a Customs Declaration Form, which they receive on the airplane. Local currency cannot be imported. Foreign currency in excess of US$ 10,000 has to be declared. This declaration, however, is not checked or asked for when you leave the country. Laptops you can bring in. Buddha images, antiques and gemstones cannot be taken out of the country without an official receipt by a licensed dealer. For US citizens it is important to know that they cannot import gemstones from Myanmar into the US, however. You can claim that they were made and bought in Thailand.

Health, Vaccinations and Medications

No vaccinations are presently required for Myanmar. Please consult with your physician. It is usually recommended that you be immunized against polio, typhoid, tetanus, and hepatitis A. Some doctors recommend vaccination for Japanese encephalitis. Yangon, Mandalay, Bagan and Lake Inle are not designated as malaria areas. Malarone is recommended, if you intend to enter malaria areas. Bring lots of mosquito repellent and use it in the evening. Sun lotion will be useful. Bring Imodium. Almost all other medicine is available in Myanmar, but please refrain from buying medications that were produced in China or other neighboring countries; they may not be safe. Should you get seriously ill in Myanmar, we recommend that you take the next plane to Bangkok (50 minutes) and check into a private hospital like Bumrungrad.

Airport Departure Tax

Airport Departure Tax for international flights is $10. There is a service tax for domestic flights too. But it is usually included in your ticket price.

Electricity

Electric current is 220 volts AC, 50 cycles.

Do not forget to bring or buy in Myanmar a strong flashlight, because the streets are dark at night and sidewalks have many holes. Please use your flashlight whenever you go out after dark.

Climate and Clothes

The seasons are:

Dry and warm – End of October to middle of March

Dry and hot – Middle of March to middle of May

Rainy Season – Middle of May to middle of October

Best time to travel: End of October to end of February.

For daytime: light clothes. Shorts are not popular, long pants are more appropriate. Cap or hat. Sun glasses, flipflops or sandals because you have to take off your footwear when you visit temples or monasteries. Small bag or backpack for daily trips. For the evening especially in the mountains and near the lake, you need warm clothes: windbreaker, sweater, warm pants, socks, shoes or sneakers.

Food and Beverages

Burmese food is not so spicy. Chinese food is available in most cities and towns. Western food is available mainly in the big cities and in hotels. The hotels and restaurants that you will be visiting are quite safe, except for the tap water. Please drink enough bottled water (or other liquids) every day; 2 liters a day are recommended.

Lunch and Dinner

The meals at your hotels may be expensive. Ask your guide for good local restaurants. They are cheaper and more fun. Try some of the local dishes like Shan noodles.

Internet, Email, International Telephone Calls

Internet/Wi-Fi (and access to your email provider) is also available in almost all hotels. International phone calls from hotels are expensive and complicated.

SIM Cards

Data service is normally enabled for a local SIM card and it is reasonably cheap to call home. 5G Network is not yet available.

Guidebooks and Maps

Bring a guidebook. Maps are available in Yangon.

Museums are closed on Mondays and public holidays. The Bogyoke Aung San Market (Scott Market) in Yangon is closed every Monday and on public holidays.

Tipping

Waiters and hotel employees receive a very small monthly salary. You may want to give a tip in restaurants or hotels. Tour car/bus/boat drivers and their attendants usually receive a tip. If a Burmese tour guide accompanies you during your trip in Myanmar, you may want to present him with an appropriate tip at the end of the tour (if she or he served you well).

Additionally, we want to inform you that a developing country like Myanmar, services related to domestic airlines, boat and car transportation can be delayed due to the reasons like weather, mechanical problems, flat tire, traffic jam and bad road. As a consequence, you may not complete the sights and places you targeted to visit and see on that day. We apologize to you in advance if it happens.

Have a wonderful trip through Myanmar, the Golden Land!

We are convinced that we can make your journey through our country a most exciting and enjoyable experience that you will remember for many years to come. Thank you.
